

Fixed Products

Count on TriEagle

From 3 months to 3 years, our fixed prices give you budget certainty and shield you from market volatility and short-term fuel price fluctuations. And, because we value our customers, there are no hidden fees or extra charges. Fixed price products from TriEagle Energy are just that – fixed – your energy price stays the same through the term of your agreement no matter what the market does. With natural gas prices at some of the lowest levels in years, the question is not when to act, but for how long. Your TriEagle account manager will work with your business to determine how we can help set and improve your energy budget.

Chart: After historic highs in mid-2008, Natural Gas prices moderated in 2009-2010, and continued to fall in 2011-2012. With NG storage numbers well above the five-year averages, the short-term outlook on NG remains bearish.
